

11.6.A

Character cards

Single parent	Political leader	70-year-old man
12-year-old girl	School teacher	Police officer
Person with a disability	Lawyer	Mother
Foster child	Social worker	Police officer
Doctor	Activist	16-year-old boy

Issue cards

Boy Child Sexual Abuse There is data proving that boy children are equally vulnerable to sexual abuse. Unfortunately, parents live with the misconception that their boys are safe and focus only on protecting girls from sexual crimes.	Bullying Some children face a lot of bullying by their peers. In schools in neighborhoods, and online, children are put through emotional and physical abuse because of their appearance, economic class, or disability, among other reasons.	Families Treat Boys Better Than Girls In some homes, boys are treated better than girls. Girls are asked to do all the chores at home and limit their own educational goals. Girls are also not given the same support for sports or play.
Child Participation Children have the freedom to express their opinions and to have a say in matters affecting their life. This right is difficult to attain as children are not always encouraged to speak up or listened to by adults.	Parents and Guardians Parents/guardians give children an identity, protect them, feed them, and provide education. A parent/guardian is the most important right a child can have. But there are some who abuse or neglect their children.	Drinking and Driving The chance of an accident doubles with just two alcoholic drinks. Many lives are put at risk by drinking and driving.
Road Rage We may be angry with people while driving, believing they are bad drivers and we are very good. We get angry when they jump the signal, change lanes, go fast, go slow, etc. We expect the best behavior from everyone but ourselves.	Children Losing Interest in Education Some children find school boring. These children would rather roam around in their neighborhood or hang out with friends than go to school.	Mobile Danger Some parents buy a mobile phone for their very young children. There is a huge risk of children falling prey to people who could abuse them, expose them to pornography, or even traffic them.
Comparing One Another Children compare what their parents can afford for them with what other parents buy for their children. Some parents compare children to others and tell them to be like those "good children."	Loneliness Generation Z is said to be one of loneliest generations in history. Young people have become more isolated, and don't know where to find relationships. This can lead to depression, isolation, unhappiness, and even suicide.	Danger of the Familiar Sexual violence and abuse cases show that perpetrators are usually people the victim knows, like family and friends. But this is also the reason why parents find it difficult to confront the abusers and victims are reluctant to file a report.

Method cards

Innovative idea
Rules and policies
Behavior change
Money and other resources
I disagree